

Walt Disney 1901 - 1966

Walter Elias Disney was a multiple academy award-winning American film producer, director, screenwriter, voice actor, animator, entrepreneur and philanthropist. During the twentieth century Disney was the influence in the field of entertainment. Disney was know for his film making and being a showman, not only that but a name of a theme park and an innovator in animation.

"We felt that the public, and especially the children, like animals that are cute and little. I think we are rather indebted to Charlie Chaplin for the idea. We wanted something appealing, and we thought of a tiny bit of a mouse that would have something of the wistfulness of Chaplin — a little fellow trying to do the best he could. When people laugh at Mickey Mouse, it's because he's so human; and that is the secret of his popularity. I only hope that we don't lose sight of one thing — that it was all started by a mouse."
-Walt Disney

Steam Boat Willie was the first sound cartoon that involved Mickey Mouse. The entire cartoon is in black and white and only involves sounds and music. Being one of the first sound cartoons this must have been amusing to many kids at a young age. Steam boat Willie was a very big hit in the old days but is all but forgotten now.

In the old day they only had black and white cartoons or even movies. I guess they did not have enough money to afford color at the time.
